

Meridian Jet Center Hires New Employee, Robert Kennedy, as Aircraft Maintenance Sales Representative

TETERBORO, NJ, March 10, 2008

Meridian, a private aviation services company, recently hired Robert Kennedy as their new Aircraft Sales Representative. Mr. Kennedy will promote Meridian's jet aircraft maintenance and parts business by working with current and future marketing efforts to maintain and grow certain established relationships as well as procure new sales leads.

"We are excited to have Mr. Kennedy join our team of exceptional professionals," said John Langschultz, VP Meridian Jet Center. "As our aircraft maintenance sales representative, Robert brings a rich experience in aviation that will enhance Meridian's presence in the market through professionally designed and executed marketing and sales programs."

Mr. Kennedy's prior aviation experience while with Altria Corporate Services includes Chief of Maintenance and Chief Inspector. Robert was an aircraft mechanic while in the US ARMY; he also holds an A&P, an I.A., and a private pilot license. He earned a Bachelor of Professional Aeronautics degree from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.

Headquartered in Teterboro, New Jersey, Meridian is an award-winning full service private aviation services company. Established in 1958 and with business roots originating in 1946, Meridian is still privately owned and operated today. Meridian's accumulated expertise offers a complete suite of professional aviation services:
