NEW MERIDIAN TETERBORO FACILITY GETS HIGH PRAISE

Meridian Teterboro rewards its clients with first-class amenities and receives a round of applause. The new 30,000 square foot facility enables clients to wait in comfort with modern conveniences at their fingertips.

The new Meridian Teterboro facility provides refreshing showers and relaxing snooze rooms. All are invited to enjoy complementary newspapers and fresh coffee while watching one of the many flat screen televisions. Visitors work off fatigue in the gym or it's business as usual for those who wish to meet in a conference room or access the internet in the business center. Pilots often use the flight planning room, equipped with 2 WSI weather machines. Pilot and passenger lounges give Meridian's guests a chance to kickback while they wait for a flight.

Pilot Don Brown with Falwell, recently in the area for 2 days, gave the new Meridian Teterboro FBO a "10+ on everything." He raved about each aspect saying, "I can't tell you how happy we are with the place." Don used the Meridian gym and theater, "They've really outdone themselves...absolutely out of this world!" He pointed out that the facility compliments the ever outstanding staff. "The personnel are, of course, the best of the best."

Janette Hege, Chief pilot with Renfro Corporation declared, "What a nice, relaxing, and comfortable place to spend the day in the life of a corporate pilot." She added, "In one word- FANTASTIC!" Her opinion is an educated one; Jeanette has been back 4 times since Meridian Teterboro's January 2006 opening. "I have utilized your work spaces, workout facility, women's locker room, theater and quiet (snooze) rooms. We are much more comfortable spending our day at your facility. Thank you for providing such a detailed and well thought-out facility for our flight crew and passengers. We could not be more pleased with the new facility and the service we always receive."

Enhancing a valued client's stay is one of Meridian Teterboro's heartfelt ways of expressing appreciation and gratitude to a loyal crew member or passenger.

FROM THE CEO

We are proud to officially announce the opening of our 30,000 square foot terminal and office complex this past January. Our warm, welcoming staff and state of the art facility have received the highest praise from pilots and passengers arriving at Teterboro. The construction of the 40,000 square foot hangar and maintenance shop is underway and scheduled for completion in October.

Ken Forester, CEO of the Meridian Companies at Teterboro

Equally monumental is the unification of all the company's operations under the Meridian Brand, the final step in implementing our evolution to a full-service provider of aviation services at Teterboro. As of June 1st, the company changed its overall name and that of its FBO to Meridian Teterboro and the aircraft maintenance division changed its name from Million Air Maintenance to Meridian Jet Center. We have had a truly great experience and share some of the most memorable moments of our history with Million Air. We continue to hold our former Million Air partners in the highest regard and look forward to working with them in the future.

Our new logo, depicting a jet plane circling the globe is designed to symbolize the company's "full-circle" of business aviation capabilities as well as the unparalleled personal experience with which Meridian seeks to surround each and every customer. Given our reshaping and the broader role we aspire to at Teterboro and beyond, we believe that the unified Meridian brand allows us to better market our integrated array of FBO services, maintenance, aircraft management, and charter.

While the name and logo are new, our ownership, management, and service teams remain unchanged. The smiles, service and the welcoming attentiveness are the same our customers have come to expect.

Hope you enjoy the newsletter.

HOME THEATRE BY CRESTRON

Crew members and passengers can now comfortably pass the time (and the popcorn) in Meridian Teterboro's state of the art home theater. The unique viewing room offers theater appeal with its 120" movie screen and the comfort of a living room with its soft leather recliners. Home theater manufacturer and Meridian Teterboro client Crestron Electronics, is a leader in advanced control and automation systems. Meridian's relationship with Crestron owner George Feldstein began in 2003 with "Crestair" using Meridian Teterboro's facility for their Citation Jet and continued after their upgrade to a Hawker.

Gabriel Karlis, President of JD Audio & Video Design Inc said of his experience installing the theater, "Steve Chandoa and the Meridian team were an absolute pleasure to work with. Their vision of providing both pilot and passenger with a comfortable place to relax in between flights was realized in a contemporary state of the art theater. Here, the audience member can choose from a multitude of movie titles with a touch of a button from the Crestron 12" color touch panel. The Meridian Team has made the waiting a pleasure again!" The feedback is unanimous; all give this "feature" 2 thumbs up.

FAA presents Diamond and AMT Awards to MERIDIAN!

On March 17, 2006, Meridian Jet Center and Meridian Air Charter were presented with the Diamond award by the FAA. This is the 6th year in a row that both companies received the award. The Diamond award is presented to companies that train at least 50% of their mechanics. In addition to the companies receiving the awards, ten mechanics received The Aviation Maintenance Technician Awards (AMT). The awards are issued based on the amount of training received in one calendar year. The AMT awards program has five levels, or phases, of recognition starting with the Bronze award through the Diamond Award. Ali Isahany, Marcus Witkowski and Charles Jackson from the Federal Aviation Administration presented the awards. Lou Ramm was awarded the Bronze award. Gold awards were presented to Brian Fee, Robert Santangelo, Mark Muller, and Randall Arrigo. Ruby awards were presented to Barney Lowery, Per Karlsson, Thomas Steves, Donald Paynton, and Jeffrey Prescott.

Dennis O'Connell, President of Meridian Air Charter noted, "We have recognized for many years the value of training our technicians. It greatly enhances safety in all areas of our operation, improves maintenance efficiencies, reduces aircraft downtime, prevents costly mistakes, and improves overall customer satisfaction. Quality training along with experience is a winning combination. We thank the FAA for their continued efforts in supporting the Aviation Technician Awards Program and our mechanics for taking the time and dedicating their efforts to improving their skills."

MERIDIAN JET CENTER FOURSOME UPDATE:

On September 20, 2006 Meridian Teterboro will again be a sponsor of the Professional Aircraft Maintenance Association (PAMA) golf outing at the Crystal Springs Golf Club in Vernon, NJ.

Meridian's Joe Langschultz, Brian Fee, Rob Santangelo, and John Langschultz will be back to give their all at the event. The Foursome is taking advantage of the new Meridian Gym to make sure they are "up to par" for the outing.

MERIDIAN AIR CHARTER ADDS TETERBORO BASED CITATION EXCEL

Meridian Air Charter is proud to announce the addition of a 2002 Citation Excel to their fleet of charter aircraft. As a passenger, inside the Citation Excel, your senses will insist you're in an aircraft that costs much more as one can move up and down the entire cabin length with plenty of headroom. The interior colors are handsome light tan and beige accented by deep figured mahogany laminate wood. There's a comfortable lavatory with sink, refreshment center and center-club seating to accommodate nine passengers. Conduct your business with two 110 volt outlets, a Satellite phone with fax adata capability, or simply sit back on our plush leather seats and enjoy monitoring your flight with Airshow® 4000. You may prefer to be entertained by the on board DVD system with bulkhead or individual seat monitors & headsets.

Director of Charter sales, Andrew Ladouceur states "the Citation Excel embodies everything that has made Citation the world's favorite line of business jets. And it does so with a cabin rivaling far costlier midsize business jets".

With features such as the Large 80 cubic foot external baggage compartment, the Excel has become such a smart choice, and makes it the right aircraft for so many confident travelers.

Steve Chandoha

Our feature employee started his career with Meridian in 1988 after earning his MBA from Embry Riddle Aeronautical University. Steve Chandoha, Meridian Teterboro's President, has been interested in aviation since early childhood. He started as the flight school manager and progressed to General Manager, Vice President and currently President of Meridian Teterboro. Steve describes his 18 years with the company as flashing by and attributes it to the "great people with whom he works." With much reverence, he describes Ken Forester, CEO Meridian Aircraft Charter and Meridian Teterboro, "Ken's dedication and the support he lends his people are second to none- his driven vision is contagious." Steve has proven to be a critical component of this vision with his involvement in the building of the Meridian Teterboro facility.

In addition to his main role as FBO president, Steve was catapulted into coordinating the day to day demands of the project. "At times I felt like a juggling act at the circus" said Steve referring to handling interior designers to subcontractors, the Port Authority to the Airport Authority, company departments and employee needs and so on. Nevertheless, Steve embraced the challenge, "The construction project has been an interesting journey and quite the learning experience...I never dreamed I'd be involved in something like this." But those who know Steve are not surprised with his success in carrying out this vital task.

Vice President, Betsy Wines, has worked with Steve since the flight school days and says she couldn't ask for a better boss. She speaks highly of his outstanding work ethic and character, "He is a thoughtful person who is concerned about the people who work for him and the success of the company". According to Betsy, "Steve is never afraid to pitch in on every level such as handling bags or running out to purchase more newspapers for clients."

To date, the most challenging was executing the actual day of the move into the 30,000 square foot terminal in January, 2006. Although the enormity of the job added a few grey hairs, Steve is proud to say, "It was great to see all the employees doing what they do best -working together, and lending each other a hand."

He is focused on the big picture positives: "...to give our customers a facility along with the amenities they need and deserve to help them do their jobs. They have been extremely patient and loyal over the years waiting for this to happen." He adds, "Our employees now have a platform from which they can shine... this facility is integral in that concept".

Steve continues to forge ahead with the present construction of the state-of -the art 40,000 square foot hanger to be complete in October, 2006.

PROFESSIONAL AIRCRAFT DETAIL SERVICING TEAM

Paying attention to detail is a full time job for the trained, certified personnel who make up Meridian Jet Center's professional detail servicing team. Supervisor Anthony Bolognini and his staff bring 10+ years experience and dedication to perfecting the look of an aircraft. The team routinely maintains the Meridian Air Charter fleet and offers its services to all customers as well.

Meridian Jet Center launched the detail servicing division five years ago and continues to diligently maintain its aircrafts with pride.

The team offers an array of services second to none: Full Interior includes disinfecting and cleaning the cockpit, galley, lavatory and cabin. Full Exterior involves hand washing the entire plane to perfection. Full Exterior Bright Work uses a special aviation product called Xzilon™ that provides up to three months protection on metal and painted surfaces. Quick Turn Detail Cleaning concentrates on cleaning the leading edges. All chartered aircraft will get at the minimum, a quick turn detail cleaning.

As Supervisor, Anthony works closely with charter coordinators and pays close attention to flight scheduling to anticipate the aircraft arrivals and their approaching needs. "Everyone knows the job they have to do and the team keeps it rolling," says Anthony who determines and delegates the services to be rendered. The crew goes to work with precision when an aircraft pulls in. The crew will expedite a Quick Turn Detail Cleaning within a short period of time to best service a client. On the other hand, a Full Interior and Exterior Detailing can be a full day's work. Michael Henriquez Jr. CEO of Los Angeles based PrimeJet LLC has depended on Meridian's detail services on several occasions. "I am always confident that the Meridian Crew will produce the quality results that our team demands. A detail done by Meridian is a detail done right..." claims Henriquez.

Meridian's dedicated detailing crew take their job seriously. Regular detailing and cleaning are crucial to maximizing aesthetic appeal and peak performance of an aircraft. Build up of residue for instance, can cause parasitic drag which can decrease fuel efficiency. For over 5 years, Anthony has researched various products to find the best performers and his standards are set high. The team has received hands-on training with product manufactures as well as leather refurbishing and carpet cleaning experts to master the best techniques.

The detailing crew guarantees their work with confidence. "We want the customers to see a presentable, impressive plane that shines and we don't miss a crumb or a fingerprint on your interior," says Anthony.

When asked what sets Meridian's professional aircraft detailing service apart from the rest? Without hesitation Anthony proclaims, "The quality detailing we provide is above and beyond."

Meridian Air Charter's trip to tropical Brazil is this issue's Mile Marker. Located in Eastern South America bordering the Atlantic Ocean, Brazil is by far the largest and most populous country in South America. Meridian Air Charter touched ground in three amazing Brazilian cities along this Mile Marker trip.

The bustling river port city of Manaus is located 900 miles inland from the Atlantic coastline in the heart of the Amazon rain forest. Principle exports from this inland port include rubber and Brazil nuts

Salvador, the 3rd largest city in Brazil, is situated on a peninsula between the Atlantic Ocean and All Saints Bay. The African influence is very pronounced in this city's music, cuisine, religion, and art. The Bahian people are very warm and welcoming, giving the city a small town feeling. In 1984 Salvador became sister city to Los Angeles.

Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil, is truly one of the world's unique cities. Brazil's majestic mountains and breathtaking beaches make tourism one of Rio's main industries. The inhabitants called Cariocas thrive on their passion for life, soccer, beaches, samba and carnival. Pictured here is a beautiful view approaching the Rio De Janeiro International Airport.
