

Meridian Air Charter Adds Greensboro, NC Based Challenger 601 3A-ER to Fleet of Charter Aircraft

TETERBORO, NJ, November 2, 2009

Meridian Air Charter, a private aviation services company, expanded their charter fleet aircraft with recent addition of a Challenger 601 3A-ER - extended range aircraft. The Challenger 601 3A-ER is large sized jet of comfort and productivity. The aircraft is based in Greensboro NC (GSO) and is available for charter.

“The Mid Atlantic region is an under supported charter market for quality cabin class jets; a charter friendly Challenger 601 based in Greensboro, NC should be a great success for us,” said Director of Charter Sales and Client Services, Andrew Ladouceur. “We are working with the owner on reduced position fees to make the plane very competitive in this charter market.”

The Challenger 601 3A-ER is a cost efficient extended range business aircraft that offers great value and comfort and is aesthetically pleasing. The white exterior is accented with garnet, cobalt and navy striping. The welcoming cabin is furnished with smooth leather and soft fabric textures. The colors boast stately and nautical tones combining deep slate blue, brilliant white and foggy grey and a sandy toned carpet that softens the palette. Golden oak woodwork with inlay design is a natural, crisp compliment to the cabin's décor. Travel with ease with the Challenger's berthable seats and private lavatory with sink. The aircraft comfortably accommodates nine passengers and is equipped with a full galley. Travel time may be spent productively or relaxingly while lounging in the plush leather seats to view the flight via Airshow® or enjoy the DVD-CD player entertainment system in the main cabin.
